*The more lumens, the larger the catheter, the greater the risk of infection and venous thrombosis

Adult population. In some pediatric populations, a peripheral IV may be left in for longer than 96 hours